

Intel Corporation
2200 Mission College Blvd.
Santa Clara, CA 95054-1549

Bio Sheet

Intel Lost Laptop Benchmark Study Panelists

Moderator

Anand Pashupathy
General Manager, Intel Anti-Theft Services
Intel Corporation

Anand Pashupathy is the General Manager of Intel Anti-Theft Services. His group is responsible for delivering Anti-Theft building blocks to the ecosystem and partner with them to bring the end-to-end solution to market. His responsibilities include strategic direction, product planning, design, marketing and business management for this service. Prior to his current assignment, Anand was the Director of Strategic Planning for Initiatives and Services within the Mobile Product Group. Prior to that Anand has held numerous engineering and end-to-end solution management roles, managing large teams in the US, India and Malaysia.

Anand earned his Master's degree in Computer Science from Arizona State University. He also received an MBA from Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University. He has been with Intel, since 1993.

Panelists

Dr. Larry Ponemon
Chairman & Founder
Ponemon Institute

Dr. Larry Ponemon is the Chairman and Founder of the Ponemon Institute, a research "think tank" dedicated to advancing privacy and data protection practices. Dr. Ponemon is considered a pioneer in privacy auditing and the Responsible Information Management or RIM framework.

Ponemon Institute conducts independent research, educates leaders from the private and public sectors and verifies the privacy and data protection practices of organizations in a various industries. In addition to Institute activities, Dr. Ponemon is an adjunct professor for ethics and privacy at Carnegie Mellon University's CIO Institute. He is a Fellow of the Center for Government Innovation of the Unisys Corporation.

Kevin Beaver
Security authority, and author/co-author of eight security books, including
Securing the Mobile Enterprise for Dummies

Kevin Beaver is an independent information security consultant, expert witness, author, and professional speaker with over 21 years of experience in IT - the last 15 years of which he has dedicated to information security. Before starting Principle

Logic in 2001, he served in various information technology and security roles for several healthcare, e-commerce, financial firms, educational institutions, and consulting organizations.

He is author/co-author of eight information security books including Hacking For Dummies, Hacking Wireless Networks For Dummies, Securing the Mobile Enterprise For Dummies, and Laptop Encryption For Dummies (all by Wiley) as well as The Definitive Guide to Email Management and Security (Realtimepublishers.com) and The Practical Guide to HIPAA Privacy and Security Compliance (Auerbach). In addition, he is a technical editor of the book Network Security For Dummies (Wiley) as well as over a dozen books and whitepapers for Realtimepublishers.com.

Malcolm Harkins
CISO and General Manager of Enterprise Capabilities, Controls, and Compliance
Intel Corporation

Malcolm Harkins is responsible for Intel's IT infrastructure & application security, data privacy & protection, Sarbanes Oxley, and overall IT controls & compliance activities. He is also responsible for corporate business continuity. His overall mission within Intel is to drive the adoption and continued operation of controls to mitigate information risks to acceptable business levels. Harkins has been with Intel since 1992 and has had responsibility for Information Security since 2002.

Harkins' prior roles include positions in finance, procurement and operations. He also program managed IT benchmarking and Sarbanes Oxley systems compliance efforts and he was the profit and loss manager for Intel's Flash Product Group in the late 90's. He also co-authored an IT services business plan that led to the creation of Intel Online Services, an external e-commerce hosting company.

Harkins has an MBA in Finance and Accounting from the University of California at Davis and a BA in Economics from the University of California at Irvine. Harkins is an active and accomplished speaker and whitepaper author.

About Intel

Intel (NASDAQ: INTC), the world leader in silicon innovation, develops technologies, products and initiatives to continually advance how people work and live. Additional information about Intel is available at www.intel.com/pressroom and blogs.intel.com.

-- 30 --

Intel and the Intel logo are trademarks of Intel Corporation in the United States and other countries.

*Other names and brands may be claimed as the property of others

CONTACT: Scott E. Smith
Intel Corporation
510-364-5754
scott1.e.smith@intel.com